The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
Ranking Member
Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Related Agencies
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chair Moore Capito and Ranking Member Baldwin:

As you consider Fiscal Year (FY) 2027 Labor, Health, and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies funding, we write to respectfully request at least $2,013,079,000 in funding for the Substance Use Prevention, Treatment and Recovery Services (SUPTRS) Block Grant, in line with The Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2026 (H.R. 7148; P.L. 119-75), which, signed into law by President Trump on February 3, provided level funding for the SUPTRS Block Grant for FY26 at $2,013,079,000.¹ The SUPTRS Block Grant is the cornerstone of states' substance use prevention, treatment, and recovery systems; robust funding for the program is critical to combatting the overdose crisis facing our communities.

The ongoing opioid epidemic and associated overdose deaths is a public health crisis that requires a sustainable strategy with a strong commitment to SUPTRS. Overdose deaths, which are the leading cause of death for Americans aged 18-44, increasingly involve both opioids and stimulants, such as cocaine and methamphetamines.² In 2024, more than 48 million Americans aged 12 and older reported having a substance use disorder in the previous calendar year. Despite the prevalence of substance use disorders and growing number of individuals in need of treatment, just 1 in 5 people needing treatment received it.³ More must be done to support effective prevention, treatment, and recovery programs.

The SUPTRS Block Grant provides states and territories with the funding and resources they need to build robust prevention, treatment, and recovery services. In FY22, the most recent year for which data is available, more than 1.6 million Americans were admitted to SUPTRS programs. SUPTRS-funded programs are effective: at discharge, more than half of clients exiting SUPTRS-funded treatment programs were abstinent from drugs and alcohol, and the majority of clients had decreased contact with law enforcement, and had secured stable housing.⁴

Congressional investment in the SUPTRS Block Grant is critical to supporting state efforts to respond to the overdose crisis. To that end, we urge you include at least $2,013,079,000 for the program. These investments will strengthen communities, and more importantly, save lives.

We thank you for your leadership in addressing our nation's substance use epidemics.

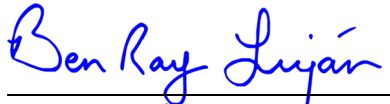

Sincerely,

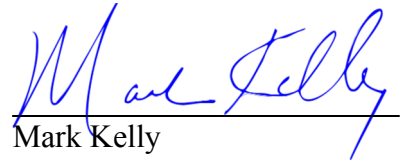

Peter Welch
